why

You won't sleep well every night.

There can be a lot of emotional labor

Humans are not perfectly rational creatures

$1+1=2$

Perfect & simple work processes do not really exist

Top-down directives don't always make complete sense

When things go well they are awesome

You can have a strong impact and be a force for good

You love working with lots of people....

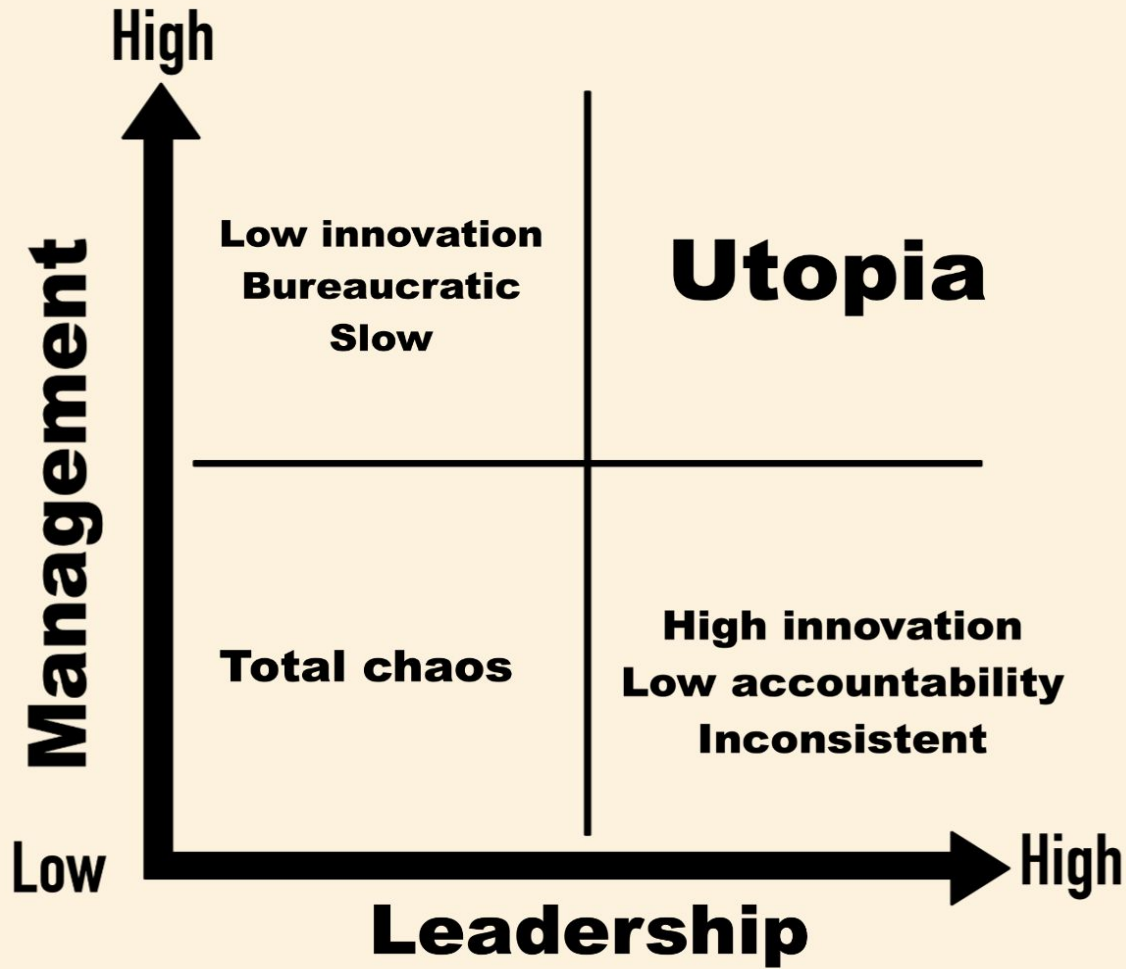

...and seeing their careers grow

Management and Leadership

Management is about good processes that are efficient, measurable, guide teams with clear objectives and outcomes, demonstrating continuous value back to the business

Leadership is about cultivating an environment to generate innovative ideas, creativity and collaboration, which challenges the status quo and leads to step-change improvements delivering value back to the business

The Management of Work

At best, a top-heavy bureaucracy is merely inefficient and annoying; at worst, it can introduce new safety hazards when it produces procedures that are insensitive to context and rigorously enforced.

if you are an SRE Manager

YOU NEED TO BE ONCALL

SRE anti-patterns

SRE Proxy Service

= SRE

02:00?

Progress must always be visible, to you, your team, and your business

SRE Managers need to do on-call shifts

Learn from incidents as much as possible

Kill wasteful work, gain more time to add value

Look you're a great manager, and your team is good at what they do....

....but you run a boys club

Well she's actually right..... so what are you going to do about it?

Diversity is a number. Inclusion is a choice

Diversity & Inclusion are fundamental to success and trust

Know how you are assessed, align your work

Prioritize 1:1s. No exceptions. Communication is vital.

Learn and build your skills

“Relationships are core to your job. If you think that you can [fulfill your responsibilities as a manager] without strong relationships, you are kidding yourself. - Kim Scott

Management Anti-Patterns

"If everyone in senior management is a cautious manager committed to the status quo, a brave revolutionary down below will always fail." John P. Kotter

Learn from failure, understand work-as-done

Get really, really organized. Inbox-zero must be your goal

Ruthlessly guard your calendar

Read, learn, adapt. There is always a better way

Do you want to be remembered for what you did?

Or how you did it?

"If everyone in senior management is committed to the goal, it will be done, every time." - John P. Kotter

Thank you

Or how you did it?
